GARP to Co-Sponsor Second Annual Shanghai Chief Risk Officer Forum

Global Risk Organization Joins Chinese Risk Managers to Discuss Key Risk Issues

September 17, 2020 – The Global Association of Risk Professionals (GARP), the leading professional organization for risk management, announced today that it will participate in the 2020 Shanghai Chief Risk Officer Forum. GARP will co-sponsor the event to be held live and virtually on September 19, with Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE).

The Forum brings together international and Chinese regulators, practitioners and scholars together to discuss how to better evaluate, prepare and address risks and uncertainties at policy, industry, and business levels, particularly in the face of the global pandemic. The event will feature case studies and discussions including topics such as quantitative easing of monetary policy in crises, how financial institutions can manage risks in “Black Swan” events and identifying opportunities to create low-carbon economies in a post-COVID 19 era.

The event is developed exclusively for chief risk officers and other senior risk leaders. Speakers include Richard Apostolik, President and CEO of GARP.
